

Bank Partnership Discounts

Bank partnership discounts offer exclusive price benefits when you pay with eligible cards issued by participating banks. These offers vary by campaign and are subject to the eligibility criteria shown at checkout.

How Bank Partnership Discounts Work

Bank discounts are automatically applied at checkout when:

- You use an eligible card from a participating bank
- Your order meets the promotion's terms, such as category restrictions or minimum purchase value

No voucher code or promo code is required.

If the discount does not appear, your payment method or order may not meet the offer's eligibility criteria.

Eligibility Requirements

To qualify for a bank partnership discount, ensure that:

- The card used belongs to a participating bank
- The promotion is currently active
- Your order meets the required minimum value (if applicable)
- Your selected items fall under the eligible categories
- No other discount method has been applied

Combining Bank Discounts with Other Offers

Promo Codes and Coupons

Bank discounts cannot be combined with promo codes, coupons, or voucher codes.

Only one discount type can be applied per order.

noon Credits

If noon credits are applied to your order, bank discounts will not be available.

noon credits count as a discount method.

Payment Methods and Restrictions

- Bank discounts apply only when the eligible physical card is used directly at checkout.
- Payments made through Apple Pay and Other digital wallets do not qualify for bank partnership discounts, even if the underlying card is eligible.

Reasons a Bank Discount May Not Apply

A discount may fail to appear due to:

- Using a card that is not part of an active partnership
- The offer is expiring or is not valid during the current event
- Missing the minimum spend requirement
- Category-based exclusions
- Applying a promo code, coupon, or noon credits
- Completing payment through Apple Pay or any digital wallet
